REMARKS

In response to the Examiner's well taken rejections, claim 1, the sole independent claim has been amended to more clearly and fully define applicants' invention. It is admitted that the claims as previously submitted could have been read, as the Examiner did, on structures mounted at the ends of the invention. Applicants invention is believed to reside in an arrangement for mounting engine driven accessories at the sides rather than ends of the engine. Neither cited reference shows a side mounted accessory that is mounted on a side of the engine by two components of the engine.

Favorable action is therefore most respectfully requested.

Respectfully submitted:
